Breakup of the 67-mile long Ohio river ice gorge swept huge cakes of ice downstream today averting the menace of serious floods in southern Indiana and Kentucky.

Freakish weather conditions prevailed throughout the nation. Floods, thaws, dust storms and blizzards were on the weather map.

The first real thaw of the winter melted immense accumulations of snow and ice in the middle west after more than a month of record-breaking cold and blizzards.

SCIOTO ICE BLASTED

COLUMBUS, Feb. 24—(UP)—Heavy dynamite charges cracked open ice gorges in the Scioto river here today as engineers sought to prevent floods and damage to bridges.

Eighteen charges of dynamite were exploded near the municipal railway bridge where the ice gorge was heaviest. Other charges were set off upstream. Ice immediately started to flow into clear water.

Flood dangers increased in a dozen states.

Heavy dust storms swirled over six plains states, denuding roots of winter wheat. Choking silt forced residents of Dodge City, Kan., indoors. Visibility was zero at Pueblo, Colo.

Sub-Zero to 76 Above

The temperature climbed to 76 degrees at Dodge City, where sub-zero temperatures, coal shortages and frozen water pipes were reported four days ago. The sun was a coppery red through the dust.

After several minor breaks upstream, the Ohio river ice gorge at Dam 49 at Uniontown, Ky., went out with a tremendous roar last night. The water rose three feet in 30 minutes but later started to fall as the general breakup

ALBERT RITCHIE STROKE VICTIM

Former Governor of Maryland Stricken in Hotel Room

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 24—(UP)—Albert C. Ritchie, four times governor of Maryland, died at his home here today of a paralytic stroke. He was 59 years old. Shortly after midnight Ritchie called his secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Smith, at her home and told her he was ill. When she arrived at his apartment a few minutes later he was semi-conscious.

Dr. Cecil Bagley, summoned to the Ritchie home, reached his bedside shortly before 1 a. m., airc department pulmonologist, brought an oxygen tank, but efforts to revive the former governor were futile.

Ritchie had been prominent in politics for 35 years. He was governor of Maryland from 1920 to 1935. In 1932 he was one of the foremost candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Friends of Ritchie said he apparently had been in perfect

SHERIFF DELAYS ATTEMPT TO END AKRON TROUBLE

Flower "Booted" By Pickets as Goodyear Company Strike Continues

VIOLENCE IS EXPECTED

Notice of Restraining Order Served on Crowd Amid Cat-Calls

AKRON, Feb. 24 — (UP) — Sheriff James T. Flower today delayed enforcement of a court order directing that striking tire builders abandon their seven-day siege of the three Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plants.

Flower served a court injunction on pickets, striking because 70 veteran employees were dismissed, but announced that he will not attempt to enforce it today or tonight.

Clash Is Feared
The sheriff's decision postponed until at earliest tomorrow an anticipated clash between union pickets and several hundred special deputies armed with clubs.

Strikers had doubled their guard several hours before Flower announced he would serve the court order restraining mass picketing.

Flower pleaded with strikers to observe the court's order.

"Let's not have any trouble, men," he shouted to make himself heard above noise from the crowd.

"This is by direction of the common pleas court and you all know what that means. It must be obeyed."

Pickets unleashed a blast of "boos" and cat-calls even before Flower was finished speaking.

Called "Sonny Boy"

"Take it easy there 'Sonny Boy'", one of them called. "You might fall down and hurt yourself." (Pickets refer to the sheriff as "Sonny Boy.")

"If you're not careful, someone'll trim that moustache", another cried.

Flower jumped down from his position on top of a car. He and Chief of Police Boss tackled up the injunction order on a billboard.

They said later in the day he broke out a window in a door at his home and a charge of destruction of property was filed by Joe Thomas, a son of the property owner.

Jaster Announces Work to Wait Until Weather is Fine for Concreting

COLUMBUS, Feb. 24—(UP)—State Highway Director John Jaster, Jr., today said he would remove the famous "twin elms," near South Bloomfield, as early as weather conditions permitted.

Jaster said he had been criticized because no action had been taken to remove the trees after previous statements were to the effect that such steps would be taken.

The director said it was his plan to remove the trees from the middle of the highway when the weather permits laying of concrete to patch the area.

GOVERNOR RAPS WHITED'S STORY

Hoffman May Try to Prosecute Lindbergh Witness

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Gov. Harold Hoffman today charged that the "printed and written record" shows that Millard Whited, Lindbergh case witness, was "lying" when he placed Bruno Richard Hauptmann near the Lindbergh estate shortly before the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby on March 1, 1932.

Asserting that "there seems to be a studied effort to suppress from the public certain important information concerning the Hauptmann case," the governor declared that the "discrepancy" in the Whited stories could not be explained away by "the alibi boys."

Whited, subject of an extraordinary inquisition in the executive offices at the capitol Saturday, is one of the keystones of the Hauptmann prosecution since it was on his identification that the German carpenter was extradited from New York City to New Jersey.

The governor has indicated that he will seek legal advice to determine whether the extradition and subsequent trial would be invalidated should Whited be found guilty of perjury.

Hoffman stressed that Whited went to the Bronx-co jail and identified the convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby "after having been repeatedly shown photographs of Hauptmann by Corporal Wolf of the state police and having been promised payment and a part of the reward."

COSHOCTON CHILDREN ARE BACK IN CLASSES

COSHOCTON, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Pupils returned to classrooms today as the city's schools re-opened after a suspension of several days due to an epidemic of an intestinal ailment.

Health officials said the danger of further spread of the disease had passed. More than 2000 adults and children were stricken last week.

Contamination of the water supply was blamed for the outbreak of disease. Tests of the water, however, failed to reveal the presence of typhoid fever germs, state health officials reported.

Several Unnamed Business Men May Force Action After Tuesday Deadline

CLUBS AFFECTED, TOO

Safety Director Terms Machines "Skin" Games Instead of "Skill"

Reports that several business men will defy the edict of Safety Director Charles Caskey to have all slot and pinball machines removed by Tuesday midnight, and that private clubs, too, will be affected by the decree increased interest Monday in the removal order.

Names of business men who declared they would not abide by the ruling were not disclosed, but defiance has been stated by several.

Notified Saturday

Members of the police department visited stores operating the machines Saturday night and notified all managers.

Safety Director Caskey said Monday morning that his action is the result of a number of protests from local citizens that children were playing the machines in a number of places. "My names for these devices," the safety chief declared, "is 'skin' and not 'skill'. They have to go."

"Our action follows that of several other southern Ohio cities and I cannot see why Circleville should be a 'roosting place' for the games."

Some of the machines are owned locally, some in Washington C. H. and some in Williamsport.

Machines Fill Cell

Mr. Caskey said he didn't know what action would be taken if the removal order is not followed, although it is possible the machines may be confiscated as Sheriff Charles Radcliff did several years ago when an order he and Judge J. W. Adkins signed was ignored. One cell in the county jail is still filled with confiscated slot machines.

BARLOW INVENTS MACHINE TO END ALL FEAR OF WAR

Copyright 1936 By United Press
STAMFORD, Conn., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Lester P. Barlow, inventor of the airplane bombs used in the World war, today disclosed plans, now before the navy department at Washington, for a new type of super-dreadnaught which he said is "immune to serious damage caused by attack by torpedoes, gun projectiles, or air bombs."

The navy department, he said, has offered "to give careful consideration" to the plans.

He said he had written to President Roosevelt, who turned the information over to the navy department and Capt. S. C. Hooper, technical assistant to chief of naval operations. The inventor said he had asked the president to deal directly in laying the plans before the London naval conference as a means of curbing "a world-wide armament supremacy race."

Whose Child is He?

IN AN effort to prove to a Chicago court that the three-year-old boy jointly claimed by her and by Dr. Gordon Mordoff is hers, Miss Margaret Mann, an unwed mother, was to submit this photo of the boy which she asserts was taken when the baby was 11 months old. To be the child of Dr. Mordoff's late wife, the baby would have to show an age of eight months at the time, Miss Mann contends. The court will decide. Meanwhile the boy is in the custody of Dr. Mordoff, a Wilmette, Ill., physician.

GIRL, TRIED FOR KILLING FATHER, TELLS OF ABUSE

ANADARKO, Okla., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Emma Willis told from the witness stand today a sordid story of parental abuse and unnatural advances for years. These conditions prompted her to shoot her father to death two months ago, she testified.

She was called to the stand a scant hour after court opened today. The prosecution in her trial on a murder charge consumed but 40 minutes in outlining the bare details of the patricide.

W. H. Cooper, defense attorney, called Emma as his first witness after saying in his opening statement that he would prove Emma fired a charge of buckshot into her father's chest during a fit of temporary insanity.

TREASURER'S OFFICE PREPARING TO ACCEPT MONEY WEDNESDAY; BIG DELINQUENCY IS DISCLOSED

Salaries of Workers, City Current Bills Depend On Receipts; Personal Accounts Being Paid; Colville, Aides Busy

Books will be opened for collection of the belated December real estate, special assessment and delinquent taxes Wednesday morning, County Treasurer Robert G. Colville announced Monday.

Work of rushing the books to completion for an early opening has kept the office force busy during the last three weeks. Mr. Colville and his assistants, his son Fred, Miss Dorothy Updyke and Miss Lucy Miner, have worked many nights to establish the earliest opening date possible. The books will close April 15.

City "Broke" as Result

Regular collection of taxes was delayed this year because the state department was unable to certify the rates to the various counties of the state. The situation caused the city to become "broke" Feb. 1, and no salaries of employees have been paid since that date.

An appeal to residents to pay their taxes as soon as possible after the collection opens has been made by city and county officials. When sufficient money is available, the city hopes to obtain a draft from the treasurer to meet salaries and current bills. This would require about $2,000, and they hope the draft will be available by March 1.

In previous years when the collection opened in December, the city obtained drafts to cover expenses during January and February and the distribution was completed early in March. This year the delay in opening the collection placed the city in an unusual circumstance.

Delinquencies High

The tax collection in this county averages about $250,000, reports show. Delinquent taxes in the city amount to approximately the same as on the collection, the current taxes due according to figure compiled by Mr. Colville.

The current taxes due from the city amount to $47,070.80 and special assessments $4,021.77. At the close of the 1934 tax collection the total delinquency on the county books was $154,466.03, a decrease of $29,000 under the previous year. In 1933 delinquent taxes amounted to $183,748.32. During the 1934 collection $75,971.56 was paid on these delinquencies, reducing the total to $107,776.76. Delinquencies on the 1934 collection amounted to $46,689.27.

The December collection covers the first half of 1935, the last half being due June 20, 1936. Collections due from the city wards follows: first ward, special assessments $788.33, delinquencies $15,969.01 and current taxes $23,263.75, second ward, special assessments $2,432.10, delinquencies $9,708 and current $7,982.18 third ward, special assessments $556.44, delinquencies $6,993.09 and current $8,919.01; fourth ward, special assessments $244.90, delinquent $14,400.70 and current $7,042.35.

COUGHLIN HURLS LIE CHARGES AT NEW YORK SOLON

Radio Priest to Go to Washington Wednesday to Test
John O'Connor

DETROIT, Feb. 24.—(UP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin gave the lie direct last night to Congressman John J. O'Connor, New York Democrat who threatened in the house of representatives last Monday to kick him "from the capital to the White House."

He repeated his charge that O'Connor worked to kill the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill by holding it up in his house rules committee, and he planned to go to Washington Wednesday, giving O'Connor his chance to do his kicking.

Coughlin accused O'Connor last week of sponsoring a bill to recompense a New York exporting firm from the treasury for losses suffered by repudiation of debts of the old Kerensky government of Russia. He did not repeat that charge in a nationally broadcast sermon yesterday, but reiterated in detail his charge that the farm mortgage bill was wilfully lost in O'Connor's committee.

Word is Desputed

"The honorable gentleman's words," Coughlin said, "are these: 'I have never made any effort to induce any member of the house of representatives to withdraw his name from a petition seeking a vote on this measure.'"

"Here is the answer, which I shall read to you from a telegram addressed to me by one of Mr. O'Connor's colleagues:

"I was persuaded to remove my name from the Frazier-Lemke petition by Congressman John J. O'Connor, chairman of the rules committee. He said I was embarrassing the president by supporting this petition."

The telegram was from Congressman Theodore L. Moritz, D., Pa.

He followed the frontal attack with a gently sarcastic flank sally varying remarkably from his usual thunder of oratory.

"Are you sportsman enough, are you American enough," he asked, "to permit the representatives of my servant girls, my laborers and my farmers to meet your talent in

NEW DUST FEAR SWEEPING WEST

Wind Subsides After Week-End of Whirling Soil

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Threatened repetition of the dust scourge which plagued the southwest wheat country last spring and summer subsided somewhat today with diminishing of winds which yesterday filled the air with thick, black silt over an area of six states.

Amarillo, Tex., in the heart of the nation's "dust bowl," was virtually clear with an 8 mile visibility and a wind velocity of 20 miles following a Sunday of gale force winds which ripped up powdery fine top soil and sent it whirling over neighboring states as far north as Nebraska.

Despite the clearing in the Panhandle country much of the dust churned up Sunday still hung like a pall over eastern Colorado, western Kansas and southwestern Nebraska.

Although the winds will continue to diminish, according to the weather bureau, no precipitation is in sight for setting the dust.

The sun was blotted out in many places as the clouds of grit rolled in from the southwest. Automobile, street and house lights were turned on in midafternoon and traffic was at a virtual standstill with visibility reduced to practically zero.

sent ice cakes down to clear water below Uniontown.

Several hundred families had moved from their farm homes in the lowlands near Evansville, Ind., over the week-end. Red Cross officials were prepared to care for 2,500 families but government engineers said the flood threat had abated with the general breakup.

Flood warnings had been issued for several days all along the river and boats had taken refuge in protected harbors. The Paducah, Ky., harbor protected $3,000,000 worth of river craft.

A blizzard swept the Truckee and Lake Tahoe regions in California, temporarily marooning 750 winter sports enthusiasts at Truckee. Highway crews succeeded in opening the Donner summit highway and scores of automobiles moved down the ice-covered road in convoys.

Several hundred motorists moved through a narrow path in the snow-filled Snoqualmie pass road in Washington where a snowslide killed three persons and buried dozens of automobiles.

With rivers frozen as deep as 36 feet and frost reaching three and four feet into the ground, central states anticipated the worst floods in years if the thaw continues.

Plan to Bomb Ice

Plans were made at Sioux City, Ia., to use bombing planes to break up ice jams in the Missouri river. Dynamite was placed at strategic points along scores of rivers in the central states to be ready for blasting ice jams.

The war department at Washington reported that district engineers throughout the nation have made detailed plans to meet any emergency flood situation.

The danger appeared to be greatest along small ice-clogged streams. At New Orleans, Meteorologist W. F. McDonald discounted the danger of abnormal rises on the lower Mississippi.

"No great flood has ever been caused by melting snow," McDonald said.

But a survey by the United Press showed engineers and Red Cross officials preparing a "disaster setup." Reports from the most seriously affected states:

WISCONSIN—"The Red Cross is prepared for the worst floods the state has seen in many years," said Miss Margaret Sharp, Milwaukee manager of the Red Cross. "Boats, food and shelter will be provided when the rivers and creeks start overflowing their banks."

ILLINOIS—Thousands of acres of farm land along the 200-mile course of the Illinois river probably will be inundated in spring floods. Ice is 20 inches thick on the Illinois and many smaller rivers are frozen solid. Mayors of nine northeastern Illinois cities conferred to prepare for sudden thaw.

MICHIGAN—Stream control and highway officials ordered the location of convenient stores of dynamite to blast ice jams which threaten highway bridges. The state health department warned against the danger of polluted drinking water supplies due to high water.

At Kalamazoo the worst overflow of the Kalamazoo river in 20 years is expected about the middle of March. Rowboats have been provided for emergency use and lowland sections have been advised that evacuation may be necessary.

Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia—the annual spring flood in the Wheeling-Cincinnati district is expected to be the worst since 1913. Many highways in Ohio lowlands covered to a depth of several feet by backwater from ice-choked streams. Engineers believe bridges will be torn out when the ice jams start moving downstream.

IOWA—With approximately eight billion tons of water in the form of ice and snow on the surface of the state, a sudden thaw would cause tremendous damage.

The Red Cross has arranged to feed and house families forced from their homes by floods at Cedar Rapids.

INDIANA—Ice on the Wabash river is 24 to 31 inches thick, unprecedented in recent history. A disaster relief committee comprised of members of the Red Cross and American Legion formed at Wabash Harbor craft in four rivers threatened by sudden breaks in ice jams.

NEBRASKA—State Engineer A. C. Tilley "greatly worried" about the possibilities of floods but does not anticipate conditions as bad as last May and June when the Republican river went on a rampage, taking 100 lives and causing about $10,000,000 damage. Ice on the platte and Missouri rivers reported 36 inches thick.

ALABAMA—Heavy property and livestock damage feared in spring floods. Rivers in South Alabama are filled to capacity and in some places have been out of their banks since early January due to unprecedented rainfall.

Many Circleville residents motored to Williamsport Sunday to view the huge ice jam in Deer creek. The jam extends both up and downstream from the bridge and is an unusual spectacle.

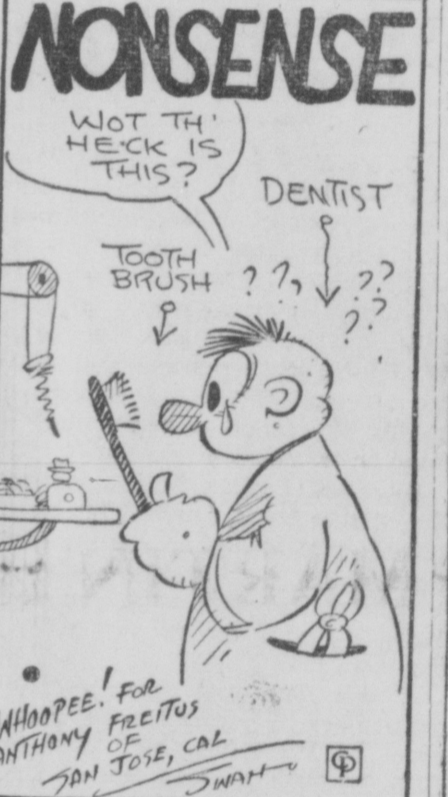

Unless there is a sudden rise in the stream residents believe the ice will remain until it melts away. Highway employees reported the jam would not endanger the bridge.

health. He returned to his apartment, where he lived alone, late last night after a drive near Baltimore.

Ritchie's last public address was made at an Epworth league meeting a few hours before his death. He spoke on the Constitution and assailed centralization of government in Washington.

He gave no indication of illness during the speech. An elevator operator in the apartment building where he lived said Ritchie joked with him as he went to his rooms shortly before midnight and that he appeared in excellent spirits.

Although a caustic critic of the New Deal, Ritchie had declared he would not join Alfred E. Smith in "taking a walk" at the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia.

Since his retirement from the governorship Ritchie had been an outstanding critic of President Roosevelt and his New Deal policies. He attacked administration spending and expansion of federal power.

In 1932 he was one of the pre-convention favorites for the Democratic presidential nomination. He championed states' rights and was one of the first to advocate repeal of the prohibition amendment.

It was his anti-prohibition stand in 1922 that first brought his inaugural prominence. He declared emphatically for repeal at a conference of governors called by President Harding.

His stand on prohibition at the meeting to discuss means of enforcing the 18th amendment almost broke up the conference. He said the people of Maryland favored local option.

In 1934 he sought a fifth term as governor of Maryland, but was defeated by Gov. Harry B. Nice, Republican.

STYLES THEN—AND SOON?

MAYBE the Gibson Girl is coming back. Fashion hints suggest it. Let us hope they are wrong. "Why Do They Call Me the Gibson Girl?" asked the self-approving lady in the almost forgotten song. In retrospect it seems they called her that in polite euphemism for the most artificial creature men dressmakers, corsetiers and hairdressers had been able to evolve since the happy oblivion of the hoop skirt.

Puffed sleeves, straight fronts, enormous rats in the hair—these and skirts that touched the ground were among the hallmarks of the Gibson Girl, whose picture or pictures adorned college dormitory rooms just before and until the dawn of the Twentieth Century. The result, including a theoretically feminine figure that modified nature's own curves and contributed new ones, may have improved upon its immediate sartorial and tonsorial predecessor, but in the light of what we have now would be reactionary and, be it confessed, disappointing.

It has long since ceased to be a secret from any eye without a cataract that the female of the species is a biped, and it is not of record anybody has been harmed by the knowledge. Certainly health, generally, must have been improved by discarding the instruments of torture that went by the name of corsets in those days. If that process has been somewhat revelatory of curves previously hidden, it is only a triumph of truth over dissimulation.

One close to him says Il Duce has received messages from all parts of the world, encouraging him in his African aims. In what language?

When merchants cut prices, they are foolish. But when nations cut the value of their money to undersell one another, that is statesmanship.

A miscreant has been caught in the act of breaking into a Maryland jail. His conduct is thoroughly reprehensible. A person should go to jail only through the due processes of law.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Wall Street has been debating former President Hoover's appeal as a trustee of Stanford university that the superior court in San Jose permit the trustees to invest in stocks as a hedge against inflation.

Strange to say, financial New York will not wholly agree with Mr. Hoover. In fact, as one financial journal puts it, the question is one for a Solomon rather than a judge. Nobody can say.

If investment in stocks had been made a year ago, the university would be greatly ahead. But, during the past year, stocks have discounted future earnings.

Yet, it is true, if inflation is ahead, stocks are likely to rise still more.

Still, ask financial men, who can say? Costs go up with inflation. And inflation frightens foreign money. If capital runs away, stocks go down.

No prediction of prices is possible. Political and economic events are too uncertain.

The university, of course, finds itself in the position of many persons who have had money invested. Bonds affording good yields have been called for refunding. Corporations have reduced their interest charges.

Much of that money has gone into high grade stocks for re-investment. Those stocks now no longer are bargains—and stocks that are bargains may be undesirable.

WHAT IS CAPITAL?

Conservative economists are warning, too, that men again are mistaking evidence of indebted-

O'CONNOR-COUGHLIN FEUD AROSE OUT OF BUCK-PASSING ON GREENBACK BILL

WASHINGTON—There was a long undercover scrap behind the "kick in the pants" with which Representative John O'Connor threatened Father Coughlin. It involved two committees of the House.

Last Spring the House Agriculture Committee reported favorably the Frazier-Lemke bill for refinancing $3,000,000,000 of farm mortgages through greenbacks. This is one of the chief legislative proposals advocated by the Detroit priest.

But Administration leaders promptly shunted the bill to the House Rules Committee, headed by O'Connor.

Ordinarily, a bill endorsed by so important a body as the Agriculture Committee is quickly given the right of way for floor consideration. But O'Connor and the other Administration leaders are determinedly opposed to Frazier-Lemke inflation. So, despite much heat and clamor, the bill has languished ever since in a Rules Committee pigeon-hole.

O'Connor was hotly denounced for suppressing the measure, hit back with a counter charge impugning the sincerity of the Agriculture Committee's action.

BUCK-PASSING

He claims that the Committee was merely "passing a hot potato" to his group, and that Chairman Marvin Jones and the other Democratic members of the Agriculture Committee privately intimated to him that they wanted no action on the bill.

O'Connor's accusation of "buck passing" is given considerable color by the wide variance of accounts within the Agriculture Committee of its vote on the embattled Frazier-Lemke bill.

Its backers claim that the count for a favorable report was 18 to 5. This was stated over the air by Coughlin. Foes of the bill contend the tally was 13 to 12. A record of the proceedings shows 8 committee members absent, 15 voting for and 5 against.

HURJA POLITICS

Emil Hurja, chief political aid to Jim Farley, called up an official of the Securities-Exchange Commission the other day and suggested that the SEC not be too exacting about the stock registration of a certain large watch company.

"The company," explained Emil, "operates some radio stations and they are for Roosevelt's re-election."

ness, such as stocks, bonds, etc., as actual capital.

Perhaps Henry George explained it best, years ago:

"Nothing can be capital, let it always be remembered, that is not wealth—that is to say, nothing can be capital that does not consist of actual, tangible things not the spontaneous offerings of nature, which have in themselves, and not by proxy, the power of directly or indirectly ministering to human desire."

NOT WEALTH

Nor are the bank deposits gained by huge government-borrowings wealth. As Henry George puts it:

"A government bond is not capital, nor yet is it the representative of capital. The capital that was once received for it by the government has been consumed unproductively—blown away from the mouths of cannon, used up in wars, expended in keeping men marching and drilling, and destroying."

(It is true that much of the government borrowings have gone into productive works, but even so that bonds are not capital. They still represent a debt. And banks are filled with these promises to pay—good, of course, backed by all the people in the land, but they are promises not capital. And the sums needed to pay those debts will come from the people and the commerce of the land.)

HOW MUCH REAL CAPITAL?

Henry George goes on:

"Supposing the bonds have been issued for the deepening of a river bed, the construction of light-houses, or the erection of a pub-

With All My Heart
BY SARA CHRISTY
Copyright, 1935, by JOHN H. HOPKINS & SON—RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
A few days after attractive Thora Dahl accepted a position as housekeeper in the home of Selwyn Marsh, Marsh's daughter, Wilma, arrives and seems to resent her presence. Thora meets Sherman Gordon, a friend of Wilma and her father, and Dottie Steele, a designing widow who lives nearby. Mrs. Steele also objects to Thora's presence in the Marsh home.

CHAPTER 20
THORA CAME hurrying down the path at the rear of the house, the heels of her new boots crunching briskly on the gravel. Dew was lying thickly on the grass, untouched still by the early sun. As she crossed the stable yard, she heard the thump of a curry comb against a stall partition. Pat was at work then.

She found him in one of the boxes, polishing the sleek flanks of the mare Ellen.

"Mornin', Miss Thora," he greeted genially. "I figured you'd be around early. I was down 'til this little girl first. I'll throw a saddle on her and she can finish her breakfast when you get back. Come along, darlin'." He reached for Ellen's headstall.

As Donahue emerged, he paused for a moment for an admiring glance at the smiling housekeeper. She was wearing a tan pull-on sweater and a broad ribbon in her bright hair. "Sure, you look like a million dollars," he chuckled.

Once in the saddle, Thora walked her mount from the yard and across a field that bordered the front lawn, striking the driveway at some distance from the house where Ellen's hoofs clattered on the concrete would not disturb any sleepers. At the entrance gate she reined up and studied her surroundings. "It was the first time that she had ridden down to the main highway and its hard surface was none too inviting for the morning gallop she had in mind."

Her meditations were interrupted by a laughing voice, hailing suddenly "Well! Where away?"

Ellen gave a startled jump and Thora pulled at her head sharply. A man, mounted on a slim-legged white pony, rode out from behind a screen of high bushes planted near one of the stone posts.

It was Sherman Gordon.

"Good mornin', early bird," he greeted cheerfully. "Meet the worm." His crop made a wigwag salute.

"Oh... Good morning, Mr. Gordon."

"I see you're trying the mare. How do you like her?"

"I don't know yet."

"And you're wondering where a good place might be thought of that... and here I am."

Thora glanced at him suspiciously but there was no hint of guile in the dark eyes watching her. Mr. Gordon made a very attractive appearance, sitting his motionless horse. Easily erect in his saddle, the sun burnishing his tawny bare head. And it was a beautiful day.

Thora smiled in a friendly fashion. "That was 'ree' kind of you. Which way should I ride?"

"Just in front of me, at the edge of the concrete. About a quarter of a mile on, you pardon me. I'll find a place for you. After you." He bowed, indicating with a wave of his hand that she should ride on.

Rather discomfited by this unexpected turn of events, Thora spoke quietly to her mount and moved ahead. The first thought that entered her mind was that this meeting would look as if it were prearranged, if anyone should chance to observe them.

Had Mr. Gordon been waiting for the idea of meeting her? Or was it merely an accident? If he hadn't said that...

But why worry? She gave herself up once more to the beauty of her surroundings, the fresh air, the sunlight.

"Ever been up this way?" Gordon inquired from the rear.

"No, I haven't."

"That's good. I'm a born guide." And, after a moment, "One of your neighbors owns that little place on the left. Mrs. Steele. I suppose you've met her by this time?"

"Yes," Thora admitted briefly. He would have to say something about Mrs. Steele... and on a morning like this. The proverbial fly in the ointment.

Nevertheless, the girl glanced curiously at the distant house. It was little more than a cottage. Gleaming white clapboards, apple-green shutters, a low shingled roof of the same color. There were no protecting shade trees. Only clumps of English yew, carefully spaced, palms-takenly clipped. It gave the place a prim, brittle appearance. Like its owner, Thora thought resentfully. She looked the other way.

Then Gordon was announcing that the road they were seeking would be found in the next bunch of trees. "On your right, Miss Dahl." When she turned Ellen's head into the shady way, her companion forged up alongside.

"Here's a good soft stretch, lady. Let her go!"

Thora needed no second bidding. She settled herself firmly in her saddle, urged Ellen into a swift gallop, abandoning herself to the exhilaration of it all. Her blue eyes sparkled and her cheeks flushed with heat as she rode, she was aware of thundering hoofs at her side, a white nose stretching past her elbow.

"That was wonderful!" she sighed happily, slowing the mare to a walk at the foot of a long incline. She tucked an escaped lock of her gold hair under the ribbon and turned a smiling face to Gordon.

"Good little nag," he answered, accommodating his mount's gait to Ellen's. "I thought you'd like her. She's got all the pep you want and gentle as a kitten. Wouldn't think she was seven, would you?"

"She's adorable." Thora's hand went out and patted the satiny neck. "I think I should be starting back," she suggested. "It must be nearing breakfast time."

"Why, you haven't been out 10 minutes! Besides, I want to show you the view from the top of the hill. It's no mountain, but you can get a nice shot for a few miles. I see some of our pocket handkerchief farms. They're not so bad. I have one myself, raise part of my own horse feed."

Somewhat to Thora's surprise, Gordon's conversation took a serious turn. He explained that horses and country life were his chief interests. His father had been a successful lawyer and Sherman was trying to placate the old gentleman by attempting to follow in his footsteps to some extent.

"He shouldn't have done so well," the young man complained frankly. "If he didn't have money, married a bunch of it, incidentally. I might get more of a kick out of burying my nose in my musty law books. As it is, I favor the office with my presence as little as I can. We've got several ambitious young fellows there, and I hate to stand in their way. Some day I'm going to cut it all."

"What are you going to do?" Thora inquired interestedly.

"Farm. Raise stock... that sort of thing."

"Around here?"

"Hardly that. I want to be a dirt farmer. Don't know what that means, exactly. But it sounds good. Guess you do."

"Yes."

DIET AND HEALTH
Fasting Period Helps Most at this Time of Year

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WHATEVER reason the church had for introducing a fast, and especially a season of fasting, there is no question that it is a good physiological procedure at this time of year. For most people! Like all other blanket advice, it usually is taken by the wrong people—the thin and underweight who don't like to eat anyway, while the fellow who needs to fast keeps on stuffing himself.

Just now, at the end of our long period of winter hibernation, when we have sat around fires and eaten all the delicacies from every corner of the earth, a little fast won't do us any harm in preparation for the spring season of activity. Sometimes a day of complete fast is easier to take than a partial reduction diet which simply teases and annoys the hungry victim.

A great deal of important scientific data has been accumulated by the study of fasting individuals. Such, the professional faster after fasting for 30 days, was still excreting 33 grams of protein every day, which was about the same amount that he excreted when he had been fasting 15 days. Nearly all fasters proclaim the fact that they feel better at the end of the fast, but this again depends on the type of person involved.

THE DECLARER often forgets that an especially fine score may be due more to partner's astuteness and courage than to declarer's wisdom and sound play. The following hand well illustrates these facts. The hero of the occasion was my partner, John M. Draper, in a game at the Union League club.

Both sides were vulnerable when South dealt. Bidding went: South, 1-Heart; West, doubled, intending to shift to no trumps over a spade response, or to support any minor suit call; East, 5-Spades, as there seemed small game probabilities if partner held more than minimum doubling strength. West correctly read the jumped response as showing no heart losers and a hand requiring no spade support to go game. He went 6-Spades, that was doubled by South and redoubled by West.

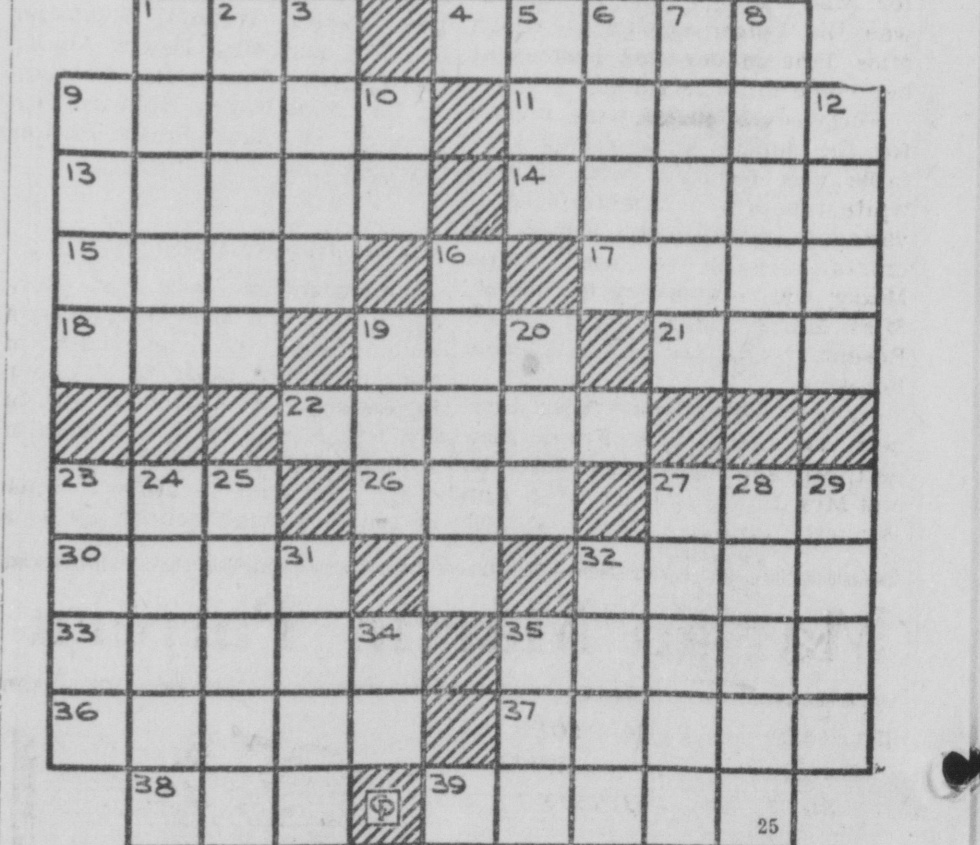

The opening lead was the K of hearts, and dummy was spread. To have his opening bid and double, South should have either, or both, Ace of diamonds and K of clubs. I ruffed the opening lead. A single trump lead picked up both missing trumps, and we got down to business. The play in very simple double-dummy, but not nearly so easy in actual play. A second round of trumps was made, just to note the first discards. South discarded a low heart. North let go his 4 of clubs. When he was able to discard a worthless heart it was probable that North's discard was an honest one, made for his partner's benefit.

The lowest club was led through South, who played the 8. Very heartily the double finesse of the 10 was taken, and held. I regained my hand by ruffing a heart lead. Another club was led. South played the 9. Dummy's Q held. North showed out, and let go a 6 of diamonds. Having ruffed a heart from dummy the holdings about the table were as shown below, with the small slam assured.

Two added rounds of trumps caused both South and dummy to let go diamonds. North discarded the 2 and 3 of diamonds. When the next trump was led South was ruined. If he discarded his Ace of hearts the two tricks I needed from dummy to make a grand slam would be furnished by the top club and Q of hearts. If South let go his Ace of diamonds dummy's K would become good. If South let go a club both of dummy's would become good. South simply said: "All right. You make a grand slam."

Today's Recipes

Cheese Fondue.—One and one-half cups scalded milk, one and one-half cups bread crumbs, one-fourth pound cheese, one tablespoon butter or substitute, one teaspoon salt, three eggs. Scald milk, combine the first five ingredients and let cook, then add the well beaten egg yolks. Beat egg whites until dry and fold into mixture, being careful not to break down the lightness of the mixture. Pour into an oiled baking dish and bake about 30 minutes in moderate oven. Serves six.

Mock Chicken Casserole.—Pork chops, rice, tomatoes, onion, celery salt and pepper, hot water. Select large, lean pork chops, three-fourths inches thick. Brown in skillet and remove to casserole. On each chop place one tablespoon uncooked rice, one slice onion, half a tomato, fresh or canned, and a ring of green pepper. For each chop used now add one-third cup chopped celery, salt to taste, a dash of pepper and half a cup of water. Bake three hours in a moderate oven, adding a little more water, if absorbed too quickly. When using canned tomatoes the liquor may be strained and used instead of water.

Butterscotch Apples.—Five apples, two-thirds cup brown sugar, one-half cup water, three-fourths cup milk, one-half tablespoon cornstarch, one-eighth tablespoon salt, one-half to one tablespoon butter, one-half tablespoon vanilla. Wash apples and cut into quarters, pare and core them. In a saucepan put sugar and water, heat. When syrup boils add apples. Cover and boil gently until apples are tender. Remove apples from syrup with skimmer or wire egg beater, placing in sherbert glasses. In another pan mix milk and cornstarch thoroughly. Stir and cook until mixture reaches boiling point, then add it to syrup in which apples are cooked, and boil for a few minutes. Add salt, butter and vanilla. Stir into mixture, then pour sauce over apple. Serve hot or cold.

Bran Biscuits.—One cup bran, one cup flour, two tablespoons brown sugar, one teaspoon baking power, one-third teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, one egg, one cup buttermilk or sour milk, one teaspoon molasses, two tablespoons melted fat. Mix dry ingredients thoroughly. Beat egg until light, then add sour milk, molasses and dry ingredients. Stir in melted fat and fill gem tins about one-half full. One-half cup raisins may be added with the flour. Allow to stand about ten minutes. Bake in hot oven 15 to 20 minutes.

Salads

Salads are served as either main course or side course. If main course, there must be four and a half quarts to serve twenty-four people, allowing three-fourths of a cup of the mixture for each serving; and four and a half quarts of a salad which is to be a side course, allowing one half cup to a serving, and providing enough with this quantity for thirty-six salads.

Tea: three eighths cup dry tea with four and a half quarts boiling water, for serving twenty-four.

Coffee: Two cups coffee with one gallon water, serves twenty-four.

Fruit punch: One quart, in small punch glasses, serves eight to twelve.

DISH MANY HOSTESSES HAVE ASKED FOR

Chicken patties continue to be one of the most popular dishes for luncheon parties. And while every cook book contains at least one recipe for this favorite, here is a recipe used by successful hostesses in the East.

CHICKEN PATTY

First make patty shells by this recipe:

Two cups flour; two teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; four tablespoons shortening; ice water.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Mix in shortening. Add slowly enough water to make a stiff dough. Roll out thin. Cut into circles and form on the outside of patty tin or muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven, 475 degrees F., open side down, until light brown. Remove carefully from the tin and return shells to the oven and bake five minutes open side up.

THE FILLING

Two tablespoons butter; two tablespoons flour; one cup chicken stock or milk; one half teaspoon salt; one eighth teaspoon paprika, one cup cold, diced chicken. Do not cut the chicken into finely minced pieces—leave them about in square at least.

Melt butter in a saucepan, stir in flour, add stock or milk, season and let come to boiling. Add chicken and cook slowly five minutes. Keep hot until ready to fill patty shells. Decorate top of each filled shell with a slender piece of pimiento or a sprig of parsley or watercress.

Vallee Has Helen Keller, Fairbanks on His Revue

Harriet Hilliard, Ozzie Nelson, Fray Have Parts in Thursday Show; Story of Major Censored

Helen Keller will be heard on the air in an interview with Rudy Vallee on Thursday, when she is a guest on his Variety hour. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Harriet Hilliard and Ozzie Nelson, and Frank Fay will also be featured in the variety bill to be broadcast over a WEAF-NBC network at 8 p. m.

Miss Keller and her teacher will both be guests on this program for an interview with Vallee. She will tell something of the struggles of the blind, deaf, and dumb, although she herself has learned to talk, making possible this appearance and enabling the whole nation to listen in to her impressions of life.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will play the lead in a dramatic sketch during the broadcast. He has recently returned from England where he has been engaged in acting and producing moving pictures.

Harriet Hilliard will bring at least one song from "Follow the Fleet," the Astaire-Rogers musical in which she has a featured role, to this program and she and Ozzie Nelson will sing a duet. The Hilliard performance in "Follow the Fleet," her first picture part, is attracting considerable attention from movie critics following the opening of the movie.

Take-off Criticized

IF YOU listened to the Fred Allen program of Feb. 5 in which Fred did a burlesque on the Major Bowes Amateur Show, you probably didn't suspect a battle had raged between the comic and the NBC censor department before the program went on the air. They advised Allen it wasn't nice for one program to kid another, and it got so hot that Fred threatened to walk out. As you know, Fred did the skit, but with slight alterations, such as the change in the line, "Here are 800 votes for Millie Swank and she hasn't even been here yet." Fred agreed to cut out "and she hasn't even been here yet." The program was one of the best laugh provokers of the year.

COUNTY CAGE TOURNAMENT NARROWED TO 6 TEAMS

WILLIAMSPORT GIVES ASHVILLE TOUGH CONTEST

New Holland, Pickaway, Muhlenberg Also in Race; Pickaway Girls Surprise

Thrills, that can be seen only in a county basketball tournament, were provided in Saturday's competition when the number of teams still in the race for the championship was narrowed to four boys' teams and two girls' competitors.

Results of Saturday's games were:

AFTERNOON

Boys

New Holland 27, Perry 11.
Pickaway 37, Saltcreek 20.
Muhlenberg 27, Jackson 26.

Girls

Pickaway 22; Ashville 18.

EVENING

Boys

Ashville 27, Williamsport 20.
New Holland 27, Walnut 12.
Pickaway 20, Scioto 7.

Next Friday New Holland and Pickaway, and Ashville and Muhlenberg will contest for the right to play in the final contests, while Walnut and Pickaway-twop girls will vie. The finals will be Saturday night.

Many Thrills Provided.

Every kind of a thrill possible was offered the immense crowd of basketball fans that filled every corner of the Athletic club gymnasium. Games hotly contested, sensational shooting and passing and equally brilliant defensive work featured the seven games.

Probably the hardest-fought were those between Jackson and Muhlenberg, and Ashville and Williamsport.

Jackson trailed most of the way through its game with the Darby boys but with only a minute remaining the count was tied at 26-all. A foul was called and Thompson, Jackson forward, had two free throws. Neither dropped through the hoop, and the score remained tied. A moment later another foul was called and Kennedy, Muhlenberg's center, walked to the charity line. He made the first attempt and missed the second, but the first foul was enough. Jackson had one more shot at the hoop but Bidwell's effort from the side missed, and the game was over.

Williamsport tried some new tactics on the Ashville offense, and as a result, forced the Kaubermen the whole way. Only the excellent shooting of Chuck Young, versatile center, kept Ashville in the victory column. He scored 16 points.

New Defense Tried

The Deer creek coach had his boys going far into the backcourt to try to stop Ashville's plays before they were started. The plan cut down Ashville's effectiveness to a large degree, but still there was Young who couldn't be stopped. Hanson and Corcoran were outstanding for Williamsport, the former being a constant threat and the latter always on the neck of Walter Gregg, Ashville's sterling little forward. Jimmy Gray helped the Ashville cause with five points.

Pickaway girls surprised many fans by defeating Ashville's lassies, 22-19, in a game featured by fast work on the part of Graves and Grace Rhodes. Maxine Young was Ashville's only threat and she was not able to carry the entire load.

Earlier in the afternoon New Holland erased Darby with ease and Pickaway showed a lot of offense in eliminating Saltcreek.

12-11 in Third Period

It took New Holland a long while to get started in the game against Walnut, leading only 12-11 at the third period, but the steam was turned on in the final session and 15 points were added to the Bulldog score. Walnut could add but one.

Pickaway was slow starting against Scioto but after trailing 2-3 at the half, won 20 to 7. Rhodes, Anderson, Dunkle and Warner added to the final period spurt while Kitchen continued his good defensive work. This youth played every minute of the afternoon game and went right out to play four more periods in the evening.

Predictions are in order as a result of the earlier round contests. It seems, from the play shown so far in the tournament, Ashville should take Muhlenberg, while the Pickaway-New Holland game will be a battle. If Ev Landman can start hitting New Holland should win and the fact that Pickaway's

About THIS and THAT In Many Sports

Foul-Shooting Below Par

Here's a fact concerning the county basketball tournament that is a tough one to face—Less than one-third of the foul shots attempted in the 11 games played to date have been completed—Many coaches are amazed and discerned by the failure of their athletes to whip the leather through the hoop from the free-throw line, and they have a right to be displeased—The janitor took time during the week-end to count the fouls attempted and those completed and finds the cagers have paraded to the charity line 289 times and have succeeded in scoring 90 of these tosses—That leaves the percentage about .311 ***

Muhlenberg Hot

THE HOTTEST UNIFORMS SEEN SO FAR IN THE TOURNAMENT ARE THOSE WORN BY MUHLENBERG-TWP TEAM ***

Four Youths Star

Four individual performances stuck out like beacon lights in Saturday night's games—They were by Chuck Young of Ashville, Herb Dennis of New Holland, Hanson of Williamsport, and Jack Rhodes of Pickaway—We doubt if anyone in the tourney will touch Lynch's mark of eight missed foul shots; this boy took a nasty kick on the side when Ralph Dennis leaped through the air for a tip-off and that might have had something to do with his failure to hit—Dennis' foul was entirely unintentional as was Chuck Ater's on Martin a short time later—Many fouls are created by eagerness and fight ***

Red, Black in Failure

Red and Black cagers have lost about everything they possessed in the Central Buckeye race—They were in third place, now they are fifth just ahead of Bexley—Their offense is far the weakest in the league, 168 points being scored in nine games, an average of 18 2-3 each game, while their defense (once the best in the league) is now tied for third with Grandview at 205 points in nine games, about 22.7 points—The Tigers have won three games and lost six—WE PICKED THEM TO WIN THE LEAGUE TITLE ***

Friday's Contests

The schedule next Friday is:
7 p. m., Ashville vs. Muhlenberg.
8 p. m., Darby vs. Ashville girls, (consolation).
9 p. m., New Holland vs. Pickaway.

center, Warner, is not near so tall as Landman adds to this possibility. However, the Pickaway coach may juggle his defense to bottle the tall tipoff artist. Herb Dennis and Hosler have been carrying the offensive load for New Holland in the early games. Rhodes is Pickaway's greatest threat.

The work of Referee Kroger Babb continues to be above reproach, and the turnstiles are clicking merrily.

ANOTHER CITY IS SOUGHT FOR OHIO BASEBALL LEOP

FOSTORIA, Feb. 24—(UP)—With seven cities protected by forfeit fees, officials of the Ohio State baseball league today sought one other city to round out the eight club circuit.

At a meeting here yesterday Tiffin, Sandusky, Fremont, Mansfield, Fostoria, New Philadelphia, and Canton, posted their fees.

Harry Smith, Columbus, president of the league, announced he expected to secure the eighth city soon. He named Marion and Coshocton as possibilities.

INDIANA, PURDUE ARE DEADLOCKED

Latter Team Knocked Off By Northwestern, 45-40

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Indiana and Purdue, two great teams from the Hoosier state, seemed destined today to tie for the Big Ten basketball championship.

Indiana is on top with nine victories and one defeat but Purdue has played one less game and has been defeated only once.

Northwestern and Michigan apparently hold the key to the situation.

Indiana has two games left, one at home with Ohio State, and one at Evanston with Northwestern. Michigan has three conference opponents yet to meet, Iowa and Minnesota at Lafayette and Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Ohio State beat Indiana at Columbus but the Hoosiers are back in stride and should reverse the tables with the home floor advantage. The real threat to Indiana's title hopes is Northwestern, the team which upset Purdue Saturday night at Evanston, 45 to 40.

Purdue is expected to bounce back into a tie for the leadership by whipping Minnesota tonight. Iowa should be comparatively easy since the game will be at Lafayette, but Michigan is a decided menace to the Boilermakers' title hopes.

The Purdue-Northwestern game Saturday night was one of the real thrillers of the season despite the fact that the Wildcats led almost all the way. It was bitterly contested and fouls were frequent. The opposing players several times came near starting fights.

Bob Kessler, the Purdue scoring ace, was held to two field goals but he sank nine free throws.

TOM KEARNEY, VETERAN BETTOR, IS DEAD AT 66

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24—(UP)—Tom Kearney, known as the man who handled millions of dollars in wagers and never weighed on a bet, died Sunday from pneumonia. He was 66.

TOP ROW, OWNER VICTORS IN HUGE ANITA HANDICAP

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Albert Anthony Baroni, nicknamed "The Duke of Reno," today held a firm niche in horse racing history as the owner-trainer of Top Row, winner of Saturday's $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap.

The former Reno, Nev., real estate operator, who turned his energies to horse racing when doctors said he had to get outdoors and away from musty offices, almost burst into tears when his little giant-killer chugged home a winner by half a length over Time Supply.

Baroni's confidence in the former selling plates was so great, it was said, that he went out Saturday morning and bet $3,500 on his horse in the big race.

THEATRES AT THE CLIFTONA

Jean Harlow has never displayed versatility as an actress to better advantage than in "Riffraff," which opened yesterday at the Cliftona theatre for two days.

She follows her smashing hit in "China Seas" with another sparkling role, again against the background of the sea, but in a vital romantic story, which gives her the finest opportunity of her career.

Teamed with her for the first time is one of Hollywood's finest actors, Spencer Tracy, and the two miss no opening to get the most out of the powerful and sweeping story, which mixes the most hilarious comedy with the most touching pathos.

The story of "Riffraff" invades a brand new locale, the commercial fishing the Pacific off Southern California. Much of the story takes place in the fishing village adjacent to the great California metropolis—a community affiliated with the city, yet entirely separated as though in a different world. There the fishermen and

BOB KESSLER 11 POINTS AHEAD OF BILL HAARLOW

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Capt. Bob Kessler of Purdue today led Bill Haarlow of Chicago in the Big Ten basketball individual scoring race.

Kessler made 13 points against Northwestern on two field goals and nine free throws to boost his total to 113 in nine games. Haarlow, playing in the same number of contests, has scored 102 points.

Ken Gunning, Indiana forward, moved into third place with 96 points after making seven field goals and three free throws against Wisconsin.

Oddities in Nation's News

PRETZELS TAKES LEAVE
NEW YORK, Feb. 24—(UP)—Pretzels, which is the goat whose picture in saloon windows heralds the advent of spring each year as surely as the first robin, has disappeared. He walked out of his stable in suburban Hastings and strolled into limbo yesterday just as the brewers board of trade was pepping up its publicity staff to push the type of spring beer that uses Pretzels' picture as a trade mark. Cynics said he probably would be back in time for the brewers' annual goat beauty contest Central park, which he has won for two years.

BANDIT NOT TOUGH
OTTAWA, Kans., Feb. 24.—(UP)—A bandit was so humiliated by Mrs. Frank Samsel's lack of hospitality that he left her home without taking anything.

Answering a knock at her front door, Mrs. Samsel was confronted by a masked man with a gun. "Put up your hands," he ordered. Instead Mrs. Samsel slammed the door.

The bandit walked away.

STUDENT IN DIFFICULTY
CHICAGO, Feb. 24—(UP)—Edward Gans, 26, Harlowton, Mont., a Loyola university medical student, nursed a hanger in jail today after driving a taxicab into a stalled tractor. Four passengers he had picked up after taking the cab from a station were injured in the crash.

BUT THERE'S NO LAW
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—(UP)—Police were stumped today as to what to do about a man carrying a nude infant along the street in sub-freezing weather. Policemen responded to a call by women who saw the man said they knew of no law under which they could arrest him or even advise him as to the raising of his children.

ROUGH ON STUDIES
CLEVELAND, Feb. 24—(UP)—The problem of keeping athletes eligible at John Carroll university became weighty today. A house in which 12 of the school's sports stars lived was burned. All their books and classroom notes were destroyed.

SINCLAIR ENTERS CALIFORNIA RACE FOR DELEGATION
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24—(UP)—Upton Sinclair, founder of the epi-Democratic movement two years ago, today returned to California's political warring as a "nominal" candidate for president in his party's primary.

Although Sinclair announced his retirement from active political campaigning several months ago, he came out of his retirement to lead the Epic forces in a battle for control of the state's delegation to the Democratic National convention.

The famous author announced his willingness to head the Epic ticket in the primaries May 5 because President Roosevelt failed to give his followers more than a dozen places in the delegation, turning over control to "regular" Democrats.

SHERIFF OPENS DRIVE TO HALT RECKLESS CARS

Vincent Orders Deputies to Watch for Truckers Who Crowd Autoists

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 24—Sheriff Joe Vincent, Saturday, inaugurated a drive against reckless driving coal truck operators.

Announcing that complaints against truck operators coming from the coal mines southeast of Chillicothe were numerous, the sheriff ordered Deputies Don Lowery and O. A. Maughmer to check trucks on Routes 50 and 35 Saturday afternoon and to bring in all violators.

Motorists complain, the sheriff said, that coal trucks "hog" the middle of the road and refuse to give way even when horns are blown by cars behind them.

Several drivers told the sheriff they had been forced onto the berm of the road to get around trucks and others said truck drivers not only refused to give them room to pass, but deliberately pulled to the left of the road when horns were sounded.

While similar violations were reported from all of the roads around the city, Sheriff Vincent said he believed he could catch the violators between Kilgore bridge and the city limits on Eastern avenue, where all the trucks from Routes 50 and 35 pass in coming to Chillicothe.

Reckless driving charges will be placed against those who are brought in, the sheriff said. Fines under this law range from $10 to $100 and costs.

FINE OF $10 AND COSTS ASSESSED WM. ANDERSON

William Anderson, 28, laborer, S. Pickaway-st, was fined $10 and costs and committed to the county jail Monday morning by H. O. Eveland, justice of peace, on a charge of intoxication.

Anderson was arrested by Deputy Miller Fissell and Earl Weaver early Sunday morning at his home.

PHOTOGRAPHER OFFERS 7x10 MOUNTED PORTRAIT

Taking advantage of the rarity of the fifth Saturday of February, A. R. Steddom, local photographer, is making an unusual offer. During the present month he has been running a series of ads on the Household Page in which the numbers representing his street address, the date of the lucky day and phone number have been presented so as to progressively reveal their meaning, culminating today in the offer appearing on that page.

The offer is for a free 7x10 portrait, mounted, to each of the 25 persons calling his place of business. For complete details his ad on the Household page in today's Herald should be read.

Fiddlesticks

You're a funny talking man to be selling cigarettes. You talk like they are cure-alls.

I've known this for a long time . . . cigarettes cause no ills and cure no ailments.

You mean ALL cigarettes . . .

Yes, at some time or other I have just about tried them all and what I say goes for all of them.

Seriously . . .

There is probably only one man on earth who would believe it if we told you that a cigarette would cure what ails you.

On the other hand . . .

There are millions of smokers who will testify, without publicity, as to the pleasure and enjoyment which they get from smoking a good cigarette.

Breakup of the 67-mile long Ohio river ice gorge swept huge cakes of ice downstream today averting the menace of serious floods in southern Indiana and Kentucky.

Freakish weather conditions prevailed throughout the nation.
Floods, thaws, dust storms and blizzards were on the weather map.

The first real thaw of the win-

SCIOTO ICE BLASTED

COLUMBUS, Feb. 24—(UP)—
Heavy dynamite charges cracked open ice gorges in the Scioto river here today as engineers sought to prevent floods and damage to bridges.

Eighteen charges of dynamite were exploded near the municipal railway bridge where the ice gorge was heaviest. Other charges were set off upstream.
Ice immediately started to flow into clear water.

Flood dangers increased in a dozen states.

Heavy dust storms swirled over six plains states, denuding roads of winter wheat. Choking silt forced residents of Dodge City, Kan., indoors. Visibility was zero at Pueblo, Colo.

Sub-Zero to 76 Above

The temperature climbed to 76 degrees at Dodge City, where sub-zero temperatures, coal shortages and frozen water pipes were reported four days ago. The sun was a coopery red through the dust.

After several minor breaks upstream, the Ohio river ice gorge at Dam 49 at Uniontown, Ky., went out with a tremendous roar last night. The water rose three feet in 30 minutes but later start-

SHERIFF DELAYS ATTEMPT TO END AKRON TROUBLE

Flower "Booted" By Pickets
as Goodyear Company Strike Continues

VIOLENCE IS EXPECTED

Notice of Restraining Order Served on Crowd Amid Cat-Calls

AKRON, Feb. 24—(UP)— Sheriff James T. Flower today delayed enforcement of a court order directing that striking tire builders abandon their seven-day siege of the three Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., plants.

Flower served a court injunction on pickets, striking because 70 veteran employees were dismissed, but announced that he will not attempt to enforce it today or tonight.

Clash Is Feared

The sheriff's decision postponed until at earliest tomorrow an anticipated clash between union pickets and several hundred special deputies armed with clubs.

Strikers had doubled their guard several hours before Flower announced he would serve the court order restraining mass picketing.

Flower pleaded with strikers to observe the court's order.

"Let's not have any trouble, men," he shouted to make himself heard above noise from the crowd.
"This is by direction of the common pleas court and you all know what that means. It must be obeyed."

Pickets unleashed a blast of "boos" and cat-calls even before
Flower was finished speaking.

Called "Sonny Boy"
"Take it easy there 'Sonny Boy', one of them called. "You might fall down and hurt yourself." (Picket's refer to the sheriff as "Sonny Boy".)

"If you're not careful, someone'll trim that moustache," another cried.

Flower jumped down from his position on top a car. He and Chief of Police Boss tackled up the injunction order on a billboard.

Road Chief To Remove Twin Elms

Jaster Announces Work to Wait Until Weather is Fine for Concreting

COLUMBUS, Feb. 24—(UP)—
State Highway Director John Jaster, Jr., today said he would remove the famous "twin elms," near South Bloomfield, as early as weather conditions permitted.

Jaster said he had been criticized because no action had been taken to remove the trees after previous statements were to the effect that such steps would be taken.

The director said it was his plan to remove the trees from the middle of the highway when the weather permits laying of concrete to patch the area.

GOVERNOR RAPS WHITED'S STORY

Hoffman May Try to Prosecute Lindbergh Witness

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 24—(UP)—Gov. Harold Hoffman today charged that the "printed and written record" shows that Millard Whited, Lindbergh case witness, was "lying" when he placed Bruno Richard Hauptmann near the Lindbergh estate shortly before the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby on March 1, 1932.

Asserting that "there seems to be a studied effort to suppress from the public certain important information concerning the Hauptmann case," the governor declared that the "discrepancy" in the Whited stories could not be explained away by "the alibi boys."

Whited, subject of an extraordinary inquisition in the executive offices at the capitol Saturday, is one of the keystones of the Hauptmann prosecution since it was on his identification that the German carpenter was extradited from New York City to New Jersey.

The governor has indicated that he will seek legal advice to determine whether the extradition and subsequent trial would be invalidated should Whited be found guilty of perjury.

Hoffman stressed that Whited went to the Bronx-co jail and identified the convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby "after having been repeatedly shown photographs of Hauptmann by Corporal Wolf of the state police and having been promised payment and a part of the reward."

COSHOCTON CHILDREN ARE BACK IN CLASSES

COSHOCTON, Feb. 24. (UP)— Pupils returned to classrooms today as the city's schools re-opened after a suspension of several days due to an epidemic of an intestinal ailment.

Health officials said the danger of further spread of the disease had passed. More than 2000 adults and children were stricken last week.

Contamination of the water supply was blamed for the outbreak of disease. Tests of the water, however, failed to reveal the presence of typhoid fever germs, state health officials reported.

Chicken thieves raided two city henhouses Saturday night, according to reports made to the po-said five were missing.

DEFIANCE HEARD AS CASKEY HITS GAMING DEVICES

Several Unnamed Business Men May Force Action
After Tuesday Deadline

CLUBS AFFECTED, TOO

Safety Director Terms Machines "Skin" Games
Instead of "Skill"

Reports that several business men will defy the edict of Safety Director Charles Caskey to have all slot and pinball machines removed by Tuesday midnight, and that private clubs, too, will be affected by the decree increased interest Monday in the removal order.

Names of business men who declared they would not abide by the ruling were not disclosed, but defiance has been stated by several.

Members of the police department visited stores operating the machines Saturday night and notified all managers.

Safety Director Caskey said Monday morning that his action is the result of a number of protests from local citizens that children were playing the machines in a number of places. "My names for these devices," the safety chief declared, "is 'skin' and not 'skill'."
They have to go."

"Our action follows that of several other southern Ohio cities and I cannot see why Circleville should be a 'roosting place' for the games."

Some of the machines are owned locally, some in Washington C. H. and some in Williamsport.

Machines Fill Cell

Mr. Caskey said he didn't know what action would be taken if the removal order is not followed, although it is possible the machines may be confiscated as Sheriff Charles Radcliff did several years ago when an order he and Judge J.
W. Adkins signed was ignored.
One cell in the county jail is still filled with confiscated slot machines.

BARLOW INVENTS MACHINE TO END ALL FEAR OF WAR

Copyright 1936 By United Press
STAMFORD, Conn., Feb. 24—

(UP)—Lester P. Barlow, inventor of the airplane bombs used in the World War, today disclosed plans, now before the navy department at Washington, for a new type of super-dreadnaught which he said is "immune to serious damage caused by attack by torpedoes, gun projectiles, or air bombs."

The navy department, he said, has offered "to give careful consideration" to the plans.

He said he had written to President Roosevelt, who turned the information over to the navy department and Capt. S. C. Hooper, technical assistant to chief of naval operations. The inventor said he had asked the president to deal directly in laying the plans before the London naval conference as a means of curbing "a world-wide armament supremacy race."

Both residents wanted workmen to scrub porches and do reported he had a number of qualified persons for this type of work.

she asserts was taken when the baby was 11 months old. To be the child of Dr. Mordoff's late wife, the baby would have to show an age of eight months at the time, Miss Mann contends. The court will decide. Meanwhile the boy is in the custody of Dr. Mor-

GIRL, TRIED FOR KILLING FATHER, TELLS OF ABUSE

ANADARKO, Okla., Feb. 24—(UP)—Emma Willis told from the witness stand today a sordid story of parental abuse and unnatural advances for years. These conditions prompted her to shoot her father to death two months ago, she testified.

She was called to the stand a scant hour after court opened today. The prosecution in her trial on a murder charge consumed but 40 minutes in outlining the bare details of the patricide.

W. H. Cooper, defense attorney, called Emma as his first witness after saying in his opening statement that he would prove Emma fired a charge of buckshot into her father's chest during a fit of temporary insanity.

TREASURER'S OFFICE PREPARING TO ACCEPT MONEY WEDNESDAY; BIG DELINQUENCY IS DISCLOSED

Salaries of Workers, City Current Bills Depend On Receipts; Personal Accounts Being Paid; Colville, Aides Busy

Books will be opened for collection of the belated December real estate, special assessment and delinquent taxes Wednesday morning.
County Treasurer Robert G. Colville announced Monday.

Work of rushing the books to completion for an early opening has kept the office force busy during the last three weeks. Mr. Colville and his assistants, his son Fred, Miss Dorothy Updyke and Miss Lucy Miner, have worked many nights to establish the earliest opening date possible. The books will close April 15.

City "Broke" as Result

Regular collection of taxes was delayed this year because the state department was unable to certify the rates to the various counties of the state. The situation caused the city to become "broke" Feb. 1, and no salaries of employees have been paid since that date.

An appeal to residents to pay their taxes as soon as possible after the collection opens has been made by city and county officials.
When sufficient money is available, the city hopes to obtain a draft from the treasurer to meet salaries and current bills. This would require about $2,000, and they hope the draft will be available by March 1.

In previous years when the collection opened in December, the city obtained drafts to cover expenses during January and February and the distribution was completed early in March. This year the delay in opening the collection placed the city in an unusual circumstance.

Delinquencies High

The tax collection in this county averages about $250,000, reports show. Delinquent taxes in

OLIN HURLS CHARGES AT NEW YORK SOLON

Radio Priest to Go to Washington Wednesday to Test John O'Connor

DETROIT, Feb. 24.—(UP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin gave the lie direct last night to Congressman John J. O'Connor, New York Democrat who threatened in the house of representatives last Monday to kick him "from the capital to the White House."

He repeated his charge that O'Connor worked to kill the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill by holding it up in his house rules committee, and he planned to go to Washington Wednesday, giving O'Connor his chance to do his kicking.

Coughlin accused O'Connor last week of sponsoring a bill to re-compense a New York exporting firm from the treasury for losses suffered by repudiation of debts of the old Kerensky government of Russia. He did not repeat that charge in a nationally broadcast sermon yesterday, but reiterated in detail his charge that the farm mortgage bill was wilfully lost in O'Connor's committee.

Word is Desputed

"The honorable gentleman's words," Coughlin said, "are these: 'I have never made any effort to induce any member of the house of representatives to withdraw his name from a petition seeking a vote on this measure.'"

"Here is the answer, which I shall read to you from a telegram addressed to me by one of Mr. O'Connor's colleagues:

"I was persuaded to remove my name from the Frazier-Lemke petition by Congressman John J. O'Connor, chairman of the rules committee. He said I was embarrassing the president by supporting this petition."

The telegram was from Congressman Theodore L. Moritz, D., Pa.

He followed the frontal attack with a gently sarcastic flank sally varying remarkably from his usual thunder of oratory.

"Are you sportsman enough, are you American enough," he asked, "to permit the representatives of my servant girls, my laborers and my farmers to meet your talent in

Wind Subsidies After Week-End of Whirling Soil

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Threatened repetition of the dust scourge which plagued the southwest wheat country last spring and summer subsided somewhat today with diminishing of winds which yesterday filled the air with thick, black silt over an area of six states.

Amarillo, Tex., in the heart of the nation's "dust bowl," was virtually clear with an 8 mile visibility and a wind velocity of 20 miles following a Sunday of gale force winds which ripped up powdery fine top soil and sent it whirling over neighboring states as far north as Nebraska.

Despite the clearing in the Panhandle country much of the dust churned up Sunday still hung like a pall over eastern Colorado, western Kansas and southwestern Nebraska.

Although the winds will continue to diminish, according to the weather bureau, no precipitation is in sight for setting the dust.

The sun was blotted out in many places as the clouds of grit rolled in from the southwest. Automobile, street and house lights were turned on in midafternoon and traffic was at a virtual standstill with visibility reduced to practically zero.

BREAKUP OF ICE IN OHIO AVERTS SERIOUS DANGER

sent ice cakes down to clear water below Uniontown.

Several hundred families had moved from their farm homes in the lowlands near Evansville, Ind., over the week-end. Red Cross officials were prepared to care for 2,500 families but government engineers said the flood threat had abated with the general breakup.

Flood warnings had been issued for several days all along the river and boats had taken refuge in protected harbors. The Paducah, Ky., harbor protected $3,000,000 worth of river craft.

A blizzard swept the Truckee and Lake Tahoe regions in California, temporarily marooning 750 winter sports enthusiasts at Truckee. Highway crews succeeded in opening the Donner summit highway and scores of automobiles moved down the ice-covered road in convoys.

Several hundred motorists moved through a narrow path in the snow-filled Snoqualmie pass road in Washington where a snow-slide killed three persons and buried dozens of automobiles.

With rivers frozen as deep as 36 feet and frost reaching three and four feet into the ground, central states anticipated the worst floods in years if the thaw continues.

Plan to Bomb Ice

Plans were made at Sioux City, Ia., to use bombing planes to break up ice jams in the Missouri river. Dynamite was placed at strategic points along scores of rivers in the central states to be ready for blasting ice jams.

The war department at Washington reported that district engineers throughout the nation have made detailed plans to meet any emergency flood situation.

The danger appeared to be greatest along small ice-clogged streams.

At New Orleans, Meteorologist W. F. McDonald discounted the danger of abnormal rises on the lower Mississippi.

"No great flood has ever been caused by melting snow," McDonald said.

But a survey by the United Press showed engineers and Red Cross officials preparing a "disaster setup." Reports from the most seriously affected states:

WISCONSIN—"The Red Cross is prepared for the worst floods the state has seen in many years," said Miss Margaret Sharp, Milwaukee manager of the Red Cross. "Boats, food and shelter will be provided when the rivers and creeks start overflowing their banks."

ILLINOIS—Thousands of acres of farm land along the 200-mile course of the Illinois river probably will be inundated in spring floods. Ice is 20 inches thick on the Illinois and many smaller rivers are frozen solid. Mayors of nine northeastern Illinois cities conferred to prepare for sudden thaw.

MICHIGAN—Stream control and highway officials ordered the location of convenient stores of dynamite to blast ice jams which threaten highway bridges. The state health department warned against the danger of polluted drinking water supplies due to high water.

At Kalamazoo the worst overflow of the Kalamazoo river in 20 years is expected about the middle of March. Rowboats have been provided for emergency use and lowland sections have been advised that evacuation may be necessary.

Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia—the annual spring flood in the Wheeling-Cincinnati district is expected to be the worst since 1913. Many highways in Ohio lowlands covered to a depth of several feet by backwater from ice-choked streams. Engineers believe bridges will be torn out when the ice jams start moving downstream.

IOWA—With approximately eight billion tons of water in the form of ice and snow on the surface of the state, a sudden thaw would cause tremendous damage.

The Red Cross has arranged to feed and house families forced from their homes by floods at Cedar Rapids.

INDIANA—Ice on the Wabash river is 24 to 31 inches thick, unprecedented in recent history. A disaster relief committee comprised of members of the Red Cross and American Legion formed at Wabash. Harbor craft in four rivers threatened by sudden breaks in ice jams.

NEBRASKA—State Engineer A. C. Tilley "greatly worried" about the possibilities of floods but does not anticipate conditions as bad as last May and June when the Republican river went on a rampage, taking 100 lives and causing about $10,000,000 damage. Ice on the platte and Missouri rivers reported 36 inches thick.

ALABAMA—Heavy property and livestock damage feared in spring floods. Rivers in South Alabama are filled to capacity and in some places have been out of their banks since early January due to unprecedented rainfall.

Many Circleville residents motored to Williamsport Sunday to view the huge ice jam in Deer creek. The jam extends both up and downstream from the bridge and is an unusual spectacle.

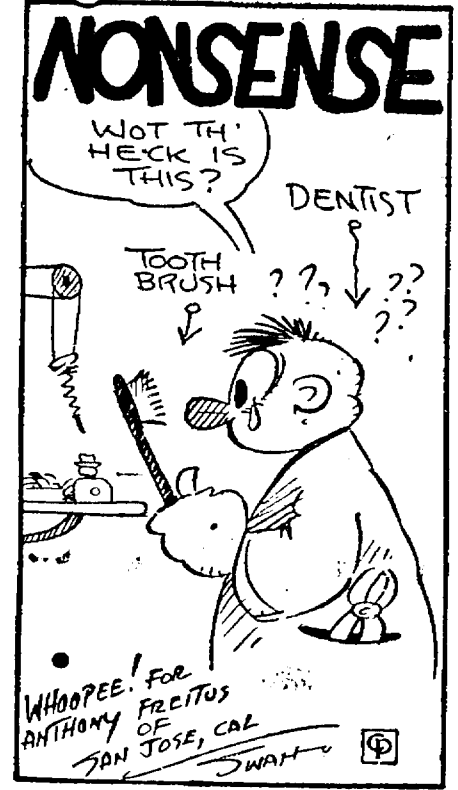

Unless there is a sudden rise in the stream residents believe the ice will remain until it melts away. Highway employees reported the jam would not endanger the bridge.

O'CONNOR-COUGHLIN FEUD AROSE

OUT OF BUCK-PASSING ON

GREENBACK BILL

WASHINGTON—There was a long undercover scrap behind the "kick in the pants" with which Representative John

O'Connor threatened Father Coughlin. It involved two committees of the House.

Last Spring the House Agriculture Committee reported favorably the Frazier-

Lemke bill for refinancing $3,000,000,000 of farm mortgages through greenbacks. This is one of the chief legislative proposals advocated by the Detroit priest.

But Administration leaders promptly

shunted the bill to the House Rules Committee, headed by O'Connor.

Ordinarily, a bill endorsed by so important a body as the Agriculture Committee is quickly given the right of way for floor consideration. But O'Connor and the other Administration leaders are determinately opposed to Frazier-Lemke inflation. So, despite much heat and clamor, the bill has languished ever since in a

Rules Committee pigeon-hole.

O'Connor was hotly denounced for suppressing the measure, hit back with a counter charge impugning the sincerity of the Agriculture Committee's action.

BUCK-PASSING

He claims that the Committee was merely "passing a hot potato" to his group, and that Chairman Marvin Jones and the other Democratic members of the Agriculture Committee privately intimated to him that they wanted no action on the bill.

O'Connor's accusation of "buck passing"

is given considerable color by the wide variance of accounts within the Agriculture

Committee of its vote on the embattled

Frazier-Lemke bill.

Its backers claim that the count for a favorable report was 18 to 5. This was stated over the air by Coughlin. Foes of the bill contend the tally was 13 to 12. A record of the proceedings shows 8 committee members absent, 15 voting for and 5 against.

HURJA POLITICS

Emil Hurja, chief political aid to Jim

Farley, called up an official of the Securities-Exchange Commission the other day and suggested that the SEC not be too exacting about the stock registration of a certain large watch company.

"The company," explained Emil, "operates some radio stations and they are for Roosevelt's re-election."

DIET AND HEALTH

Fasting Period Helps Most at this Time of Year

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WHATEVER reason the church had for introducing a fast, and especially a season of fasting, there is no question that it is a good hygienic procedure at this time of year. For most people, like all other blanket advice, it usually is taken by the wrong

the fellow who needs to fast keeps on stuffing himself.

Just now, at the end of our long period of winter hibernation,

when we have sat around inside and eaten all the delicacies from every corner of the earth, a little fast won't do us any harm in preparation for the spring season of activity. Sometimes a day of complete fast is easier to take than a partial reduction diet which simply sates and annoys the hungry victim.

A great deal of important scientific data has been accumulated by the study of fasting individuals. Such the professional faster, after fasting for 30 days, was still excreting 33 grams of protein every day, which was about the same amount that he excreted when he had been fasting

15 days. Nearly all fasters proclaim the fact that they feel better at the end of the fast, but this again depends on the type of person involved.

Cheese Fondue.—One and one-half cups scalded milk, one and one-half cups bread crumbs, one-fourth pound cheese, one tablespoon butter or substitute, one teaspoon salt, three eggs. Scald milk, combine the first five ingredients and let cook, then add the well beaten egg yolks. Beat egg whites until dry and fold into mixture, being careful not to break down the lightness of the mixture. Pour into an oiled baking dish and bake about 30 minutes in moderate oven. Serves six.

Mock Chicken Casserole.—Pork chops, rice, tomatoes, onion, celery salt and pepper, hot water. Select large, lean pork chops, three-fourths inches thick. Brown in skillet and remove to casserole. On each chop place one tablespoon uncooked rice, one slice onion, half a tomato, fresh or canned, and a ring of green pepper. For each chop used now add one-third cup chopped celery, salt to taste, a dash of pepper and half a cup of water. Bake three hours in a moderate oven, adding a little more water, if absorbed too quickly. When using canned tomatoes the liquor may be strained and used instead of water.

Butterscotch Apples.—Five apples, two-thirds cup brown sugar, one-half cup water, three-fourths cup milk, one-half tablespoon cornstarch, one-eighth tablespoon salt, one-half to one tablespoon butter, one-half tablespoon vanilla. Wash apples and cut into quarters, pare and core them. In saucepan put sugar and water, heat. When syrup boils add apples. Cover and boil gently until apples are tender. Remove apples from syrup with skimmer or wire egg beater, placing in sherbert glasses. In another pan mix milk and cornstarch thoroughly. Stir and cook until mixture reaches boiling point, then add it to syrup in which apples are cooked, and boil for a few minutes. Add salt, butter and vanilla. Stir into mixture, then pour sauce over apple. Serve hot or cold.

Bran Biscuits.—One cup bran, one cup flour, two tablespoons brown sugar, one teaspoon baking power, one-third teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, one egg, one cup buttermilk or sour milk, one teaspoon molasses, two tablespoons melted fat. Mix dry ingredients thoroughly. Beat egg until light, then add sour milk, molasses and dry ingredients. Stir in melted fat and fill gem tins about one-half full. One-half cup raisins may be added with the flour. Allow to stand about ten minutes. Bake in hot oven 15 to 20 minutes.

Salads

Salads are served as either main course or side course. If main course, there must be four and a half quarts to serve twenty-four people, allowing three fourths of a cup of the mixture for each serving; and four and a half quarts of a salad which is to be a side course, allowing one half cup to a serving, and providing enough with this quantity for thirty-six salads.

Tea: three eighths cup dry tea with four and a half quarts boiling water, for serving twenty-four.

Coffee: Two cups coffee with one gallon water, serves twenty-four.

Fruit punch: One quart, in small punch glasses, serves eight to twelve.

DISH MANY HOSTESSES HAVE ASKED FOR

Chicken patties continue to be one of the most popular dishes for luncheon parties. And while every cook book contains at least one recipe for this favorite, here is a recipe used by successful hostesses in the East.

CHICKEN PATTY

First make patty shells by this recipe:

Two cups flour; two teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; four tablespoons shortening; ice water.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Mix in shortening. Add slowly enough water to make a stiff dough. Roll out thin. Cut into circles and form on the outside of patty tin or muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven, 475 degrees F., open side down, until light brown. Remove carefully from the tin and return shells to the oven and bake five minutes open side up.

THE FILLING

Two tablespoons butter; two tablespoons flour; one cup chicken stock or milk; one half teaspoon salt; one eighth teaspoon paprika, one cup cold, diced chicken. Do not cut the chicken into finely minced pieces—leave them about in square at least.

Melt butter in a saucepan, stir in flour, add stock or milk, season and let come to boiling. Add chicken and cook slowly five minutes. Keep hot until ready to fill patty shells. Decorate top of each filled shell with a slender piece of pimiento or a sprig of parsley or watercress.

Drouth in winter is as dangerous to crops as summer drouth.

COUNTY CAGE TOURNAMENT NARROWED TO 6 TEAMS

WILLIAMSPORT GIVES ASHVILLE TOUGH CONTEST

New Holland, Pickaway, Muhlenberg Also in Race; Pickaway Girls Surprise

Thrills, that can be seen only in a county basketball tournament, were provided in Saturday's competition when the number of teams still in the race for the championship was narrowed to four boys' teams and two girls' competitors.

Results of Saturday's games were:

AFTERNOON

Boys

New Holland 27, Perry 11.
Pickaway 37, Salt Creek 20.
Muhlenberg 27, Jackson 26.

Girls

Pickaway 22; Ashville 18.

EVENING

Boys

Ashville 27, Williamsport 20.
New Holland 27, Walnut 12.
Pickaway 20, Scioto 7.

Next Friday New Holland and Pickaway, and Ashville and Muhlenberg will contest for the right to play in the final contests, while Walnut and Pickaway-two girls will vie. The finals will be Saturday night.

Many Thrills Provided.

Every kind of a thrill possible was offered the immense crowd of basketball fans that filled every corner of the Athletic club gymnasium. Games hotly contested, sensational shooting and passing and equally brilliant defensive work featured the seven games.

Probably the hardest-fought were those between Jackson and Muhlenberg, and Ashville and Williamsport.

Jackson trailed most of the way through its game with the Darville boys but with only a minute remaining the count was tied at 26-all. A foul was called and Thompson, Jackson forward, had two free throws. Neither dropped through the hoop, and the score remained tied. A moment later another foul was called and Kennedy, Muhlenberg's center, walked to the charity line. He made the first attempt and missed the second, but the first foul was enough. Jackson had one more shot at the hoop but Bidwell's effort from the side missed, and the game was over.

Williamsport tried some new tactics on the Ashville offense, and as a result, forced the Kauberman, the whole way. Only the excellent shooting of Chuck Young, versatile center, kept Ashville in the victory column. He scored 16 points.

New Defense Tried

The Deercreek coach had his boys going far into the backcourt to try to stop Ashville's plays before they were started. The plan cut down Ashville's effectiveness to a large degree, but still there was Young who couldn't be stopped. Hanson and Corcoran were outstanding for Williamsport, the former being a constant threat and the latter always on the neck of Walter Gregg, Ashville's stirring little forward. Jimmy Gray helped the Ashville cause with five points.

Pickaway girls surprised many fans by defeating Ashville's lassies, 22-19, in a game featured by fast work on the part of Graves and Grace Rhodes. Maxine Young was Ashville's only threat and she was not able to carry the entire load. Earlier in the afternoon New Holland erased Darby with ease and Pickaway showed a lot of offense in eliminating Salt Creek.

12-11 in Third Period

It took New Holland a long while to get started in the game against Walnut, leading only 12-11 at the third period, but the team was turned on in the final session and 15 points were added to the Bulldog score. Walnut could add but one.

Pickaway was slow starting against Scioto but after trailing 2-3 at the half, won 20 to 7. Rhodes, Anderson, Dunkle and Warner added to the final period spurt while Kitchen continued his good defensive work. This youth played every minute of the afternoon game and went right out to play four more periods in the evening.

Predictions are in order as a result of the earlier round contests. It seems, from the play shown so far in the tournament, Ashville should take Muhlenberg, while the Pickaway-New Holland game will be a battle. If Ev Landman can start hitting New Holland should win and the fact that Pickaway's

Foul-Shooting Below Par

Here's a fact concerning the county basketball tournament that is a tough one to face—Less than one-third of the foul shots attempted in the 11 games played to date have been completed—Many coaches are amazed and discerned by the failure of their athletes to whip the leather through the hoop from the free-throw line, and they have a right to be displeased—The janitor took time during the week-end to count the fouls attempted and those completed and finds the cagers have paraded to the charity line 289 times and have succeeded in scoring 90 of these tosses—That leaves the percentage about .311 * * *

Muhlenberg Hot

THE HOTTEST UNIFORMS SEEN SO FAR IN THE TOURNAMENT ARE THOSE WORN BY MUHLENBERG-TWP TEAM * * *

Four Youths Star

Four individual performances stuck out like beacon lights in Saturday night's games—They were by Chuck Young of Ashville, Herb Dennis of New Holland, Hanson of Williamsport, and Jack Rhodes of Pickaway—We doubt if anyone in the tourney will touch Lynch's mark of eight missed foul shots; this boy took a nasty kick on the side when Ralph Dennis leaped through the air for a tip-off and that might have had something to do with his failure to hit—Dennis' foul was entirely unintentional as was Chuck Ater's on Martin a short time later—Many fouls are created by eagerness and fight * * *

Friday's Contests

The schedule next Friday is:
7 p. m., Ashville vs. Muhlenberg.
8 p. m., Darby vs. Ashville girls (consolation).
9 p. m., New Holland vs. Pickaway.

center, Warner, is not near so tall as Landman adds to this possibility. However, the Pickaway coach may juggle his defense to bottle the tall tipoff artist. Herb Dennis and Hosler have been carrying the offensive load for New Holland in the early games. Rhodes is Pickaway's greatest threat.

The work of Referee Kroger Babb continues to be above reproach, and the turnstiles are clicking merrily.

INDIANA, PURDUE ARE DEADLOCKED

Latter Team Knocked Off By Northwestern, 45-40

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Indiana and Purdue, two great teams from the Hoosier state, seemed destined today to tie for the Big Ten basketball championship.

Indiana is on top with nine victories and one defeat but Purdue has played one less game and has been defeated only once.

Northwestern and Michigan apparently held the key to the situation.

Indiana has two games left, one at home with Ohio State, and one at Evanston with Northwestern. Michigan has three conference opponents yet to meet, Iowa and Minnesota at Lafayette and Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Ohio State beat Indiana at Columbus but the Hoosiers are back in stride and should reverse the tables with the home floor advantage. The real threat to Indiana's title hopes is Northwestern, the team which upset Purdue Saturday night at Evanston, 45 to 40.

Purdue is expected to bounce back into a tie for the leadership by whipping Minnesota tonight. Iowa should be comparatively easy since the game will be at Lafayette, but Michigan is a decided menace to the Boilermakers' title hopes.

The Purdue-Northwestern game Saturday night was one of the real thrillers of the season despite the fact that the Wildcats led almost all the way. It was bitterly contested and fouls were frequent. The opposing players several times came near starting fist fights.

Bob Kessler, the Purdue scoring ace, was held to two field goals but he sank nine free throws.

TOM KEARNEY, VETERAN BETTOR, IS DEAD AT 66

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Tom Kearney, known as the man who handled millions of dollars in wagers and never weighed on a bet, died Sunday from pneumonia. He was 66.

TOP ROW, OWNER VICTORS IN HUGE ANITA HANDICAP

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Albert Anthony Baroni, nicknamed "the Duke of Reno," today held a firm niche in horse racing history as the owner-trainer of Top Row, winner of Saturday's $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap.

The former Reno, Nev., real estate operator, who turned his energies to horse racing when doctors said he had to get outdoors and away from dusty offices, almost burst into tears when his little giant-killer chugged home a winner by half a length over Time Supply.

Baroni's confidence in the former selling plates was so great, it was said, that he went out Saturday morning and bet $3,500 on his horse in the big race.

BISHOPS TANGLE WITH OHIO STATE MONDAY EVENING

COLUMBUS, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Ohio Wesleyan, for the last two seasons champion of the Buckeye conference and now a contender for a share in the 1936 basketball crown, and Ohio State, the enigma of the Big Ten, step out of their respective conferences tonight for a contest here.

Wesleyan, after rather indifferent play during the early part of the season, reached its top form recently and in its last two starts has looked impressive as it turned back Miami and Cincinnati.

Ohio State, with five losses and five victories in the Big Ten, has looked alternately good and bad. The Bucks were at their best when they defeated Indiana 43 to 34 in their last start.

Wesleyan and Ohio State did not meet last season, but faced each other during the 1933 and 1934 seasons. On both occasions the quintet from Delaware was the victor.

In 1933 Wesleyan gained a 34 to 23 triumph and in 1934 was the winner 40 to 38.

Out of England's total population in 1935, estimated at 40,350,000, there were 19,357,000 males and 20,993,000 females.

THEATRES AT THE CLIFTONA

Jean Harlow has never displayed versatility as an actress to better advantage than in "Riffraff," which opened yesterday at the Cliftona theatre for two days. She follows her smashing hit in "China Seas" with another sparkling role, again against the background of the sea, but in a vital romantic story, which gives her the finest opportunity of her career.

Teamed with her for the first time is one of Hollywood's finest actors, Spencer Tracy, and the two miss no opening to get the most out of the powerful and sweeping story, which mixes the most hilarious comedy with the most touching pathos.

The story of "Riffraff" invades a brand new locale, the commercial fishing the Pacific off Southern California. Much of the story takes place in the fishing village adjacent to the great California metropolis—a community affiliated with the city, yet entirely separated as though in a different world. There the fishermen and their families live their lives, and work out their destinies without contract with outside influences.

Rochelle Hudson, who shares honors with Henry Fonda in the leading role of "Way Down East," the new Fox Film production, which is now at the Grand theatre, has taken up knitting in a big way and even brings her knitting to the studio with her. While she was sitting on the sidelines or studying dialogue, Miss Hudson was busy purling and knitting.

All of the charter members of the order have died, Noah Weaver, E. Main-st, being the last. Former Judge Charles A. Dresbach was one of the organizers and promoters of the castle. Other older members surviving are J. R. Wilson, J. B. Majors, C. F. Abernethy, W. F. Baker, C. E. Stevenson, J. H. Fraunfelder, J. E. Stearns, Charles Bell, J. A. McLaughlin, and Charles Will.

A lunch will be served during the evening, and a large attendance is desired.

Oddities in Nation's News

PRETZELS TAKES LEAVE

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Pretzels, which is the goat whose picture in saloon windows heralds the advent of spring each year as surely as the first robin, has disappeared. He walked out of his stable in suburban Hastings and strolled into limbo yesterday just as the brewers board of trade was pepping up its publicity staff to push the type of spring beer that uses Pretzels' picture as a trade mark. Cynics said he probably would be back in time for the brewers' annual goat beauty contest Central park, which he has won for two years.

BANDIT NOT TOUGH

OTTAWA, Kans., Feb. 24.—(UP)—A bandit was so humiliated by Mrs. Frank Samsel's lack of hospitality that he left her home without taking anything.

Answering a knock at her front door, Mrs. Samsel was confronted by a masked man with a gun. "Put up your hands," he ordered. Instead Mrs. Samsel slammed the door.

The bandit walked away.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Edward Gans, 26, Harlowton, Mont., a Loyola university medical student, nursed a hangover in jail today after driving a taxicab into a stalled tractor. Four passengers he had picked up after taking the cab from a station were injured in the crash.

BUT THERE'S NO LAW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Police were stumped today as to what to do about a man carrying a nude infant along the street in sub-freezing weather. Policemen responded to a call by women who saw the man said they knew of no law under which they could arrest him or even advise him as to the raising of his children.

ROUGH ON STUDIES

CLEVELAND, Feb. 24.—(UP)—The problem of keeping athletes eligible at John Carroll university became weighty today. A house in which 12 of the school's sports stars lived was burned. All their books and classroom notes were destroyed.

SINCLAIR ENTERS CALIFORNIA RACE FOR DELEGATION

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—(UP)

—Upton Sinclair, founder of the epi-Democratic movement two years ago, today returned to California's political warring as a

"nominal" candidate for president in his party's primary.

Although Sinclair announced his retirement from active political campaigning several months ago, he came out of his retirement to lead the Epic forces in a battle for control of the state's delegation to the Democratic National convention.

The famous author announced his willingness to head the Epic ticket in the primaries May 5 because President Roosevelt failed to give his followers more than a dozen places in the delegation, turning over control to "regular" Democrats.

SHERIFF OPENS DRIVE TO HALT RECKLESS CARS

Vincent Orders Deputies to Watch for Truckers Who Crowd Autoists

CHILICOTHE, Feb. 24.—Sheriff Joe Vincent, Saturday, inaugurated a drive against reckless driving coal truck operators.

Announcing that complaints against truck operators coming from the coal mines southeast of Chillicothe were numerous, the sheriff ordered Deputies Don Lowery and O. A. Maughmer to check trucks on Routes 50 and 35 Saturday afternoon and to bring in all violators.

Motorists complain, the sheriff said, that coal trucks "hog" the middle of the road and refuse to give way even when horns are blown by cars behind them.

Several drivers told the sheriff they had been forced onto the berm of the road to get around trucks and others said truck drivers not only refused to give them room to pass, but deliberately pulled to the left of the road when horns were sounded.

While similar violations were reported from all of the roads around the city, Sheriff Vincent said he believed he could catch the violators between Kilgore bridge and the city limits on Eastern avenue, where all the trucks from Routes 30 and 35 pass in coming to Chillicothe.

Reckless driving charges will be placed against those who are brought in, the sheriff said. Fines under this law range from $10 to $100 and costs.

PHOTOGRAPHER OFFERS 7x10 MOUNTED PORTRAIT

Taking advantage of the rarity of the fifth Saturday of February, A. R. Steddom, local photographer, is making an unusual offer. During the present month he has been running a series of ads on the Household Page in which the numbers representing his street address, the date of the lucky day and phone number have been presented so as to progressively reveal their meaning, culminating today in the offer appearing on that page.

The offer is for a free 7x10 portrait, mounted, to each of the 25 persons calling his place of business. For complete details his ad on the Household page in today's Herald should be read.

FINE OF $10 AND COSTS ASSESSED WM. ANDERSON

William Anderson, 28, laborer, S. Pickaway-st, was fined $10 and costs and committed to the county jail Monday morning by H. O. Eveland, justice of peace, on a charge of intoxication.

Anderson was arrested by Deputy Miller Fissell and Earl Weaver early Sunday morning at his home.

Fiddlesticks

You're a funny talking man to be selling cigarettes. You talk like they are cure-alls.

I've known this for a long time . . . cigarettes cause no ills and cure no ailments.

You mean ALL cigarettes . . .

Yes, at some time or other I have just about tried them all and what I say goes for all of them.

Seriously . . .

There is probably only one man on earth who would believe it if we told you that a cigarette would cure what ails you.

On the other hand . . .

There are millions of smokers who will testify, without publicity, as to the pleasure and enjoyment which they get from smoking a good cigarette.
